Joe Lands a "Dandy"

For several weeks, at intervals, Joe Plante has angled below the dam at the International mine to catch a speckled trout that would take the prize for the biggest fish in the season's competitions of the Rod and Gun Club. He had it out of the water once, when—flip—and it was back in its native haunts again. Nothing discouraged, Joe returned at various times and patience was rewarded on Wednesday evening, when the fighting fish came up to swallow a grasshopper in which the hook was skillfully concealed, and thereby its doom was sealed.

It was a sure catch this time. On being weighed it showed, after cleaning, 2 lbs., 6 oz. It measured 16½ inches in length, and its girth was 12 inches.

There is a big bull trout in the same spot, but as fishing is over for this year, he will likely remain in peace for awhile.

ST. ALBAN'S CHURCH

Next Sunday is the 20th after Trinity, and Children's Day. Services will be holy communion at 8 a.m.; children's service at 2:30 p.m., to which parents are specially invited; evensong and sermon at 7 p.m.

On Saturday, Oct. 17, the A.Y.P.A. will meet at St. Alban's hall at 9:30 a.m. to go to the forestry lookout south of town. Members should bring lunches.

The prize winners at the Caledonian Society's whist drive last Friday evening proved very enjoyable. The prizes were won by J. Denholm, J. Rushton, Mrs. D. Gardiner and Mrs. Pryde.

Bottom of the Class

"Bill" Gate and Tony Vejreva played in a baseball game at Natal during the summer. They were in Angelo's aggregation which took the first prize of $200, so it is presumed they received a little of the loose change after Angelo paid the expenses of getting the boys together. For this misdemeanor they are told by Blairmore athletic association that they have "professionalized" themselves. Being reported to the executive of the provincial association, a horrible example has been made. The offending players are given a slap on the wrist and told they must sit on the side benches till Jan. 1, when, if they have been good in the meantime, the sports autocracy will permit them to play. Now whadya know about that?

Appeal for Clothing

Mrs. R. M. Dunlop, secretary of the local Red Cross branch, states a needy family has appealed for children's clothing. If any persons have articles they would kindly donate, they may be left with Mrs. Dunlop, Third street, or any member of the executive or at The Journal office. Children's clothing of any kind would be very useful, to meet a number of applications for aid.

Business notes from Turner Valley:—Ralph Horner, grocery and clothing store, leaving for new location in B.C.; W. C. Liphardt, jeweler, left with equipment for Okotoks to re-open in the same business; Silver Grey cafe, Neon sign taken away. Such are the ups and downs of an oilfield town.

Personal and Local

Miss May Powell spent the holiday with friends at Cranbrook.

The Red Cross dance at Frank to be organized by Mrs. Sherring will be held on November 15.

The football star players of the Pass towns were defeated on Saturday at Hillcrest.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Evans motored to Calgary to spend Thanks giving holiday.

Granville Greenhalgh will leave this week to spend some time at his fruit ranch at Arrow Park, B.C.

Oliver Barringham and Mr. and Mrs. J. Nash and daughters spent Thanksgiving with friends at Coalhurst.

Acknowledgement is gratefully made by the hospital staff and board of gifts sent to the hospital by Mr. G. Pattinson.

Jimmy Joyce suffered a badly bruised leg whilst working in the International mine. He was in hospital for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McLeod returned on Wednesday from Winnipeg, after two or three months stay.

Hubert Clark, of the Bank of Commerce staff, Taber, spent the Thanksgiving holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Clark.

Miss Mae Moores was recently awarded her diploma as registered nurse, on completion of her training course in Calgary general hospital.

Ideal weather prevailed over the week-end, enabling people to take advantage of Thanksgiving holiday by visiting relatives and friends in nearby and distant towns.

A surprise party in honor of Margaret Hoggan's birthday was thoroughly enjoyed on Saturday last by a number of her juvenile friends.

The fishing season is now over, the last trip of the season to the North Fork being made on Sunday, by Maurice Cooke, Frank Creagan, Chas. W. McKinnon and Albert Short.

Oliver Barringham was the lucky boy on last Saturday's world's service baseball game, winning $32.25 contributed by a number of "fans" in the daily pool on the result of the game. Mae Bell was among the fortunate, winning one day's pool.

Coleman Caledonian Society is trying to arrange for Rev. George Dickson of Calgary to speak here on Nov. 26, in honor of St. Andrew's night, this being the nearest date on which he could come. On October 23 the society will probably give another of the illustrated lectures sent out by the University of Alberta, extension department.

Whist drives are as popular as ever this season, judging by the attendance at the L.O.L. whist drive last Saturday, there being 17 tables. Turkeys as first prizes were won by Mrs. J. L. Lonsbury, and J. A. McDonald of Blairmore; the second prizes, chickens, were won by Mrs. Kilgannon and Harry Harris; the third or consolation prizes of sausages went to Mrs. E. V. Peet and Seth Raymond. The evening concluded with a dance, Asbridge's orchestra playing.

A Letter from Ontario

Mr. James Scott, writing from Winona, Ont., states there is a great crop of fruit in that district, and grapes are very cheap at $25 a ton. A basket full costs 20c. Apparently Mr. Scott was as keen as any baseball fan, for he concluded his letter by stating he was just going to listen in to the last game of the series, and it was very exciting. Mrs. Scott had not been very well since moving east. He wished to be remembered to his old Coleman friends, and enclosed a renewal subscription to continue forwarding The Journal.

Local News

Mrs. J. Houghton was a visitor to Calgary for a few days.

Mrs. Frank G. Creagan was admitted to hospital on Sunday, suffering from a severe heart attack.

Bobby Dewar is making good progress after a very serious spell of sickness.

Supt. John A. McLeod accompanied Roland Pinkney on a visit to Edmonton over the Thanksgiving holiday.

The services of a competent woman to help in housework may be obtained on application to The Journal.

Notices are posted calling a meeting of the miners for Sunday, when J. Stokulsk will report on his visit to Estevan district.

Scouts Will Sell Poppies

Coleman Boy Scouts will sell poppies on Armistice Day, which will be declared a public holiday, to be known legally as Remembrance Day, on Wednesday, November 11. The Canadian Legion is urging every town to hold a service of remembrance on that day.

Quiet times in business also make quiet times in the local police court.

Arranging for Poppy Day

Capt. Geo. Hudson, of the provincial command of the Canadian Legion, was a visitor in the Pass towns last Thursday. Among other business matters he arranged for the annual Poppy Day campaign on behalf of crippled soldiers and the Veterans' shops, in which the poppies are made.

'Fresh from the gardens'

A Time For Self Control

As Shakespeare once put it, "the times are out of joint." These are troublous days, and days of trouble. Men's nerves are on edge, and little things that would be passed over lightly in good times are every day becoming the cause of quarrels. Because nerves are on edge, tempers are not under control even to the extent they usually are, and in the case of most people tempers are never controlled as they should be.

Today people will argue and dispute about almost anything, and lose their tempers over the most trivial matters which are of no importance whatever. The great Bard of Avon wrote: "Beware of entrance to a quarrel; but, being in, bear it that the opposed may beware of thee." Abraham Lincoln, however, said that while this advice was good, it was not the best, and he substituted: "Quarrel not at all. No man, resolved to make the most of himself, can spare time for personal contention. Still less can he afford to take the consequences, including the vitiation of his temper and the loss of self-control. Yield larger things to which you show no more than equal right; and yield lesser ones through clearly your own better. Give your path to a dog than be bitten by him in contesting for the right. Even killing the dog would not cure the bite."

This is not to say that a man should sacrifice so much as one important conviction, or yield his principles for the sake of peace or profit. There are times when a man should get mad, when we could feel nothing but contempt for him if he did not. But such occasions are few and far between. The trivial, inconsequential thing should never be the cause of dispute or outbreak of temper.

We are reminded of the three-word Latin motto above the doorway of the ancient chamber in the Guildhall in which the aldermen of London hold their court and which no one of them can fail to see: "Audi alteram partem." Hear the other side.

And in old England, wide its long years of experience in handling human beings of all classes and degrees in all parts of the world, how much wiser than other nations is she in dealing with agitators. The Old Land long ago learned that talk, like any other gas, is dangerous only when compressed. Younger countries, Canada included, has yet to learn that lesson. So we find in London, instead of attempting to suppress the Hyde Park orators, the British authorities supply police protection for them, let them say their say, and do not quarrel with them.

And what is the cause of most misunderstandings, leading to loss of temper and open quarrels? Is it not that in our self-opinionated state we are wasting our energies and increasing our blood pressure trying, over trivial things, to set somebody else right? Instead of accepting people for what they are, and endeavoring to mold their lives to our preconceived model, endeavouring to organize them. How many marriages live in a state of tension because one or both seek to make the other over. If once the idea could get abroad that the real appeal of the sexes is the fact that they are not alike, what a great gain that would be. And what applies to the sexes applies equally to races, creeds, and other established facts of life.

Let us stop trying to organize the lives of other people, and attend strictly to the task of organizing our own. Let us make the lesson that, after all, there are, comparatively few issues in this world worth disputing over. It would, of course, be a sad day for the world if righteous indignation vanished from it, if men became so immersed in the scramble for profit and place of power that they could no longer get mad over palpable wrongs and gross injustices. But the point is that too much of the world's anger is poured out in defence of pride or prejudice instead of conviction.

An old Roman philosopher said: "Many have suffered for talking; none ever suffered for keeping silent." And, on another occasion, "We cannot be wrong in leaving other people's business alone."

Using Seed Cleaning Units

Saskatchewan Municipalities Taking Advantage Of Outfits Supplied

Several municipalities in Saskatchewan already have made applications to the Field Crop Branch of the Department of Agriculture for seed cleaning units as supplied by the Saskatchewan Government in co-operation with the Dominion Seed Branch. Under this scheme, the Governments furnish the machinery, the municipality being required to provide the motive power and the housing accommodation. All the outfits supplied to date have been of an itinerant nature, and may be transported from farm to farm during the seed cleaning period.

Increased Attendance Is Shown For The Current Term

Former students returning to Saskatchewan University brought up to 1,043 or 47 less than last year, according to President W. C. Murray. To offset this the number enrolled in the correspondence courses has increased by 57 to 303, giving a net increase of ten students.

The decline is mainly in the college of arts and sciences. The College of Pharmacy shows reduced enrolment, and engineering a considerable increase. The other colleges have about the same number as on the corresponding day last year.

Deep Buried In Snow

Found Alive Eight Weeks After South African Storm

Hundreds of South Africans saw a fall of snow for the first time in their lives during a recent heavy storm on Table Mountain and other Cape ranges. While the present season is "winter" on this side of the equator, snow has rarely been seen this far south.

From the interior comes a story of how 18 sheep lived for eight weeks under an avalanche of snow in the Molteno district.

Although completely hemmed in, they managed to keep alive by breathing through the melting snow and eating the grass on the floor of the aperture, as well as snow. When found they were little more than skeletons. They are now recovering.

FASHION HINT

"How to make my old short skirts conform to the new length was a problem to me until I hit on this plan. I dropped the hems; and as the skirt had been turned under, I turned the skirt inside out, and then I dyed the entire dress, after having bleached the goods, following directions in the Diamond Dyes package."

"I used Diamond Dyes for the dyeing of course. I have dyed many things with these wonderful colors. They have saved me many dollars and have never failed to give perfect results—smooth, even colors—fast to wear and washing. Friends think my things are new when I redeye or tint them with Diamond Dyes. They do give the most gorgeous colors."

Mrs. G.C. Lewis, Quebec.

Thirty-Five Years Enough

Missionary To Yukon Hands Over Work To Younger Man

Duties as a missionary in the frozen Yukon for 35 years have ended for Rev. W. D. Young.

Mr. Young only spent a few minutes in Calgary, but it was long enough for him to say that he had left the Yukon for ever. Now 73 years old, he handed to younger men the work of spreading the gospel in the distant north.

It was two years before the great Klondike gold rush of 1898 that Mr. Young went north, then 38 years old. Just what he will do now, he does not know, but it is likely he will go to Toronto after his stay in Winnipeg. He made two trips to civilization, the northern stay, which included 25 years at Hazelton Island. The first was in 1902 and the second in 1903.

His home, before he went north as a missionary, was in Bruce County, Ontario, where he farmed.

If Miller's Worm Powders needed the support of testimonials they could be got from mothers who know the virtue of this excellent medicine. But the powders will speak for themselves and in such a way that there can be no question of their effect. They act speedily and thoroughly, and the child to whom they are administered will show improvement from the first dose.

Kind Words Cost Nothing

There sometimes are excuses to be made for the men and women who are stingy with money, but not for those who are stingy with appreciation. Kind words cost nothing at all; yet some of them are as reluctant to use some of them as any old miser is to part with one of his cherished gold pieces.

Canada Has Thousands Of Level Crossings

Removal Of All Impossible Says Hon. Frank Oliver

The Dominion at present has some 23,000 level crossings scattered along railways from coast to coast despite expenditure of $15,130,000 over the past 21 years towards elimination and amelioration of this menace to traffic, according to Hon. Frank Oliver, advisory officer to the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, in a paper presented at the recent convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association at Lucerne-in-Quebec.

In 1930, a total of 341 railway crossing accidents in Canada took a toll of 115 lives and 476 injured, Mr. Oliver stated. Through the efforts of the Board of Railway Commissioners much had been done to improve railway crossing conditions Mr. Oliver continued.

Crossing accidents on provincial highways formed less than one-third of the total for 1930, the great majority of crossing fatalities occurring on country roads.

The annual government grant of $200,000 to the Board for the railway crossing fund was inadequate, the speaker said, and it would be impossible to entirely remove all level crossings in the Dominion.

J. P. Bickell, registrar of motor vehicles of Ontario, said the death toll exceeded three persons a day on Canada's roads. The total of automobile fatalities in the year 1930 was 1,289 and the injured were approximately 40,000.

Project To Establish International Currency

Plan Is Suggested To Right World

A project to establish an international currency to fight world-wide uneasiness has been disclosed in the Swiss press.

The creation of such a currency would be based on a deposit of $1,000,000,000 in the world bank by central banks of the various countries. France would deposit one-third of the amount and the United States the balance, under the plan. Certificates would be issued by the world bank and distributed among the depositors, covered either by 30 per cent. of 50 per cent. of their gold deposit. They would also draw coverage from money circulating in the various countries.

World bank quarters were considered the plan would assume concrete form in the near future. This was based on a belief that France and United States would call an international currency conference after Premier Laval's visit to Washington.

Lower Prices For Honey

Honey Prices In Ontario Lower In 25 Years

Honey values in Ontario have reached the lowest point in 25 years, according to officials of the Ontario Honey Producers' Association, and while that is true, the flavour of this year's product is rated much better than the average year. Last year's crop in round figures in Ontario was about 13,000,000 pounds and this year there is a 60 per cent. crop, or about 7,500,000 pounds.

There has been a good demand from countries like Holland for buckwheat honey at four to six cents a pound and producers hope for better prices than those now prevailing, under which they get only about 5 to 6 cents a pound. Last year's prices were easily 2 cents a pound, on the average, above this year's price.

The whole idea of trade and commerce must, it seems, be old-fashioned and foolish.—Toronto Star.

No Longer a Bugbear

Britain's Departure From Gold Standard Not Likely To Harm Anybody

The United States owns nearly half the gold supply of the world. At the beginning of the present month, United States-owned gold amounted to $4,983,000,000, a new high record. Yet in the Republic at this very moment, some millions of men, women and children are fearfully wondering how they are going to keep warm and fed this coming winter.

Perhaps the position of the United States has little real relation to the gold standard in Britain, or its departure from it. Yet existing world realities have knocked so many ancient and cherished theories into a cocked hat it will be surprising if what has been done in Britain visits much harm upon anybody. Currency changes, most certainly, long ago ceased to be a bugbear.—Ottawa Journal.

Cutworm Damage

Survey Will Be Made In Several Areas

Not in Saskatoon

A survey of cutworm damage will be undertaken immediately by the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The object of this study is to secure accurate information with respect to the amount of damage done by cutworms. For this purpose several areas in the vicinity of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, have been chosen.

It is also expected that as a result of this survey information which will show the relationship of farm practices and farm management to cutworm damage will be obtained and better methods of control may be developed.

City Covers Big Acreage

Regina is one of the largest cities in Canada. It covers 8,408 acres, more than twice as big as many eastern cities of similar or even larger population. Within the confines of Regina are more than 500 acres of civic parks, nearly 100 acres of exhibition grounds, besides a great deal of vacant property. Regina could comfortably accommodate twice its present population without extending the boundaries.

Canada Keeps Gold Standard

Premier Bennett Says No Change Is Contemplated

Canada retains the gold standard, and it is not proposed to abandon it. This, in effect, is the statement of Premier R. B. Bennett. Persistent rumour that the Dominion proposed to abandon the gold standard was drawn to the attention of the Prime Minister. His answer was emphatic. The Government had not changed the position taken when news of Great Britain's departure from the gold standard was flashed across the ocean.

"Canada has not altered the position taken when the announcement was made that England had departed from the gold standard, nor do we contemplate so doing," the Prime Minister declared. "We have appealed and not in vain, to Canadians to conserve our gold supply to meet whatever strain may be placed upon our resources by reason of our foreign commitments, which are payable in gold and will be honoured accordingly."

"SICK HEADACHE?"

It is not necessary to give in to headaches. It is just a bit old-fashioned! The modern woman who has a headache coming on at any time, takes some tablets of Aspirin and heads it off.

Keep Aspirin handy, and keep your engagements. Headaches, systemic pains, come at inconvenient times. So do colds. You can end them before they're fairly started if you'll only remember this handy, harmless form of relief. Carry it in your purse and insure your comfort while shopping; your evening's pleasure at the theatre. Those little nagging aches that bring a case of "nerves" by day are ended in a jiffy. Pains that once kept people home are forgotten half an hour after taking Aspirin! You'll find these tablets always help. In every package of Aspirin tablets are proven directions which cover colds, headaches, sore throat, toothache, neuritis, neuralgia, sciatica, and even rheumatism.

The tablets stamped Bayer won't fail you, and can't harm you. They don't depress the heart, they don't upset the stomach. So take them whenever you need them, and take enough to end the pain. Aspirin is made in Canada.

Conservative Leader Urges Election To Decide Manitoba Issue

Bolshevik, Man.—An opportunity for the people of Manitoba to elect a government of their own choice and not be forced to accept a coalition cabinet as proposed by Premier John Bracken, was urged by Lieut.-Col. F. G. Taylor, leader of the Provincial Conservative Party, Col. Taylor was replying to the Premier's speech at Killarney.

The Conservative leader urged that the voters should have the chance of selecting their party and then, should the government majority be insufficient, that would be the time to start talking of a union government. After the people have expressed their opinion, he said, was the time for such proposals. "Mr. Bracken need not be afraid of getting all the support he needs from the Conservative party if that is the case after an election," he added. His party had never opposed the government on major matters of the past, he continued, "except on matters of policy."

It would be impossible for the Conservative party to go into any government with Mr. Bracken at its head," he declared. Here he charged the Bracken administration with responsibility for the financial condition of the province.

Col. Taylor said he felt the Conservative party was behind him to a man in his feeling that "there could be no coalition with Mr. Bracken at the head of any government."

The Conservative leader charged the Premier with "dictatorship," and claimed a "one-man government has been the cause of some of the failures of the present administration in Manitoba. Now," he added, "they want a truce for five years, with Mr. Bracken at the head of a combined government."

"If things were in such 'shape' as to require this, declared Col. Taylor, the people should be given the opportunity of electing a legislature. There would be plenty of time to talk about a coalition government then, if it were still required.

Will Accept Peerage

Chancellor Of British Exchequer Decides To Take Title

London, Eng.—The Canadian Press learns that Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has decided to accept a peerage.

Mr. Snowden has announced he will not seek re-election in the coming general election. Elevating to the peerage, however, would enable him to render continued valuable help to the National Government, from the Upper House, if it is successful at the polls.

Senator Morrow Obsequies

Englewood, N.J.—The body of Senator Dwight W. Morrow was lowered into a grave at Brookside Cemetery at the conclusion of simple funeral services in the First Presbyterian Church. Vice-President Curtis, members of the Morrow family and a few intimate friends stood by. There was no other service at the grave.

Hoover Credit Plan Is Termed Sound Proposal By Sir Thomas White

Toronto, Ont.—President Hoover's plan to form a $500,000,000 corporation for the extension of credits was termed "a sound, constructive proposal" by Sir Thomas White, vice-president of the Bank of Commerce, in an interview with the Toronto Telegram.

Sir Thomas believed President Hoover's proposal "should go far to break the deadlock in credit due to fear and distrust, which has been throttling the internal and external trade and financing of the United States."

"There is more analogy between President Hoover's proposal and the recent action of the British Government in suspending the gold standard than appears on the surface," Sir Thomas continued. "It should assist materially in settling America's gold reserves free to discharge the function for which gold reserves exist."

Sir Thomas said the proposed measure is essentially the same as that taken by Canada at the outbreak of the war. "The Dominion treasury announced that it stood prepared to loan freely to the banks at a reasonable rate of interest upon approval securities of all kinds, to en-

Find Pairs Of Mail 'Plane

Believe Aviators Taking Mail From Limer Killed Trying To Make Landing

Parraboro, N.S.—A broken pontoon, bits of smashed wing, a customs manifest and two sodden passenger lists were all that Obequid Bay had given up to establish the fate of Fritz Simon and Rudolph Wogenknecht.

"There is not the slightest chance of their being alive," Lieut. Louis Leigh told the Canadian Press. It was Lieut. Leigh, with J. R. McGowan in the seaplane "Pioneer" who first found traces of the mail plane "New York," which crashed off Economy Point. In his opinion the German fliers who had been entrusted with the task of flying the mail from the liner "Bremer" at sea to New York, met death after trying to make a landing.

"If the plane had crashed," he said, "the front of the pontoons would have been smashed. The one we found, although smashed in two, was scraped at the rear. It was evident from the damage that the plane had struck a ledge of rock and the floats had been stripped away."

"We know where the fuselage is," he continued, "and I believe we'll be able to raise it with the derrick on the tug and bring it here."

No Need Of Transients

Minister Of Labour Refers To Wantings Of Unemployed Men

Ottawa, Ont.—No necessity exists for the continual wanderings of transient unemployed men, Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labour, said here. He also announced men going to work on the trans-Canada Highway would have to provide themselves with suitable clothing or obtain it from other than governmental sources.

"There is no necessity for the continual rambling . . . and down of these men on the railways," said the Minister. "There is justification for it when the provinces are sending men to work on the roads. The transients are giving Canada the appearance of a country crowded with unemployed, when it is not. I am quite satisfied there is no necessity for the liberty and license in transient travelling now rampant."

During his recent western trip, Senator Robertson said he had seen no signs of unemployment at divisional points in British Columbia. The transients there seemed to have disappeared.

Major Lloyd George Resigns

London, Eng.—The London Evening Standard reported that Major Gwilym Lloyd George, son of the Liberal leader, had resigned as Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, following his criticism of the Prime Minister's handling of the war.

David Lloyd George to the National Government.

Mob Causes Trouble

Mounted Police Battle With Crowd In Heart Of London

London, England.—A crowd of the unemployed using sticks, stones and fire crackers, battled with mounted police in front of the British Museum in the heart of London. Unable to resist the relentless charging of the horses at a gallop and clubbing by police batons, the crowd, screaming, finally marched to Hyde Park, where it was served a free meal and went home.

The disorder began when the constabulary appeared and ordered the crowd, which had been marching down Drury Lane, gathering new recruits constantly and singing "The Red Flag," to disperse.

Some of the crowd, which immediately became infuriated, tossed fire crackers into the police ranks, stampering the horses. Others gathered bricks and pieces of mortar and threw them at the police, who drew back and charged, arresting the ring-leaders.

General Election In England

Vote Will Be Taken On October Twenty-Seventh

London, Eng.—Great Britain will vote October 27 in a general election on issues of outstanding importance, it was announced at Buckingham Palace. It will be the first general election since May 30, 1929, when Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin's Conservative Government was swept out of power and the Labour party returned to the helm for the first time in five years. The Liberal representation in Parliament was radically reduced but it has held the balance of power throughout the period.

The announcement came after Premier MacDonald had conferred with the King.

His withdrawal came after bitter criticism, especially by National Socialists and Nationalists, who objected because he approved Germany's abandonment of the proposed Austro-German customs pact. The foreign minister also was attacked on his policy of friendship with France.

Government spokesmen emphatically asserted, however, that his resignation did not mean any change in Germany's foreign policy.

Urges Moratorium

Year's Delay On Farm Loan Interest Would Assist Farmers

Winnipeg, A year's moratorium on farm loan interest would enable western Canada to make as rapid a recovery from the depression as any other section of the Dominion, and also would prevent many farmers giving up their farms, according to Col. H. A. Mullins, M.P. for Marquette.

Col. Mullins, who has just returned from a tour of his constituency, said if the mortgage and loan companies decline to take this course they are liable to find themselves with a lot of vacant farms on hand.

Marquette, the member said, was not asking for relief, and is well able to take care of its own people.

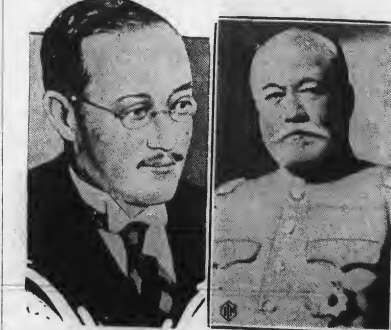

Confidence Needed

Ramsay MacDonald Says Monetary Policy Must Be Established

London, Eng.—A monetary policy which will establish the pound sterling "in confidence and authority" must be inaugurated without delay, Premier Ramsay MacDonald declared in an election manifesto issued Wednesday, October 7.

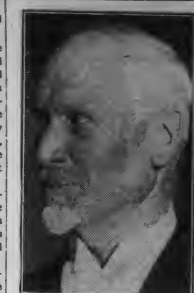

His declaration also foreshadowed negotiations looking toward international agreements "which will remove some of the most fruitful causes of the economic misfortunes—such as war debts and reparations—from which the whole world is now suffering."

PRINCIPALS IN CHINA-JAPAN CONFLICT

C. T. Wang (left), Chinese Foreign Minister, who deplored the possibility of an international issue or a serious break with Japan over the Mukden incident. General Hasegawa (right), Japanese Commander at Mukden, is expected to be called upon to explain the sudden and unaccountable seizure by some of his forces at Mukden. He is said to have acted on his own authority and embarrassed his government.

Resignation Of Curtius

Withdrawal Does Not Mean Any Change In Foreign Policy Of Germany

Berlin, Germany.—Dr. Julius Curtius, who succeeded the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann as foreign minister of Germany in October, 1929, and kept in force the Stresemann policy of conciliation with Germany's wartime enemies, has submitted his resignation to Chancellor Heinrich Brüning.

His withdrawal came after bitter criticism, especially by National Socialists and Nationalists, who objected because he approved Germany's abandonment of the proposed Austro-German customs pact. The foreign minister also was attacked on his policy of friendship with France.

Government spokesmen emphatically asserted, however, that his resignation did not mean any change in Germany's foreign policy.

Protest From U.F.C.

Against Closing Of Saskatchewan Traffic And Freight Rates Branch

Saskatoon, Sask.—A strong protest against the closing of the traffic and freight rates branch of the provincial department of railways, which is heralded as a "great shock," was issued by United Farmers of Canada headquarters, tribute being paid to the value of services rendered by George H. Smith, head of the branch, now dismissed.

Disputing any motive of economy, the statement claims that it is a known fact that the government report indicates that the department has saved the province $500,000. The spokesman of the U.F.C. also indicates that with the opening of the Hudson Bay railway the functioning of the department is still more essential to the farmers of Saskatchewan.

Will Not Visit Here

Ottawa, Ont.—Premier Laval of France will be unable to visit Canada during his coming trip to North America. An invitation to come to Ottawa was sent to the French Premier by Premier R. E. Bennett. A reply was received Wednesday, October 7, expressing the regrets of Premier Laval that he would be unable to accept the invitation.

Predicts Jobless Increase

Calgary, Alberta.—A scheme of unemployment insurance, based upon an actuarial principle will probably be introduced during the life of the present parliament, according to Dr. G. D. Stanley, Conservative member of the House of Commons for East Calgary.

Continuation Of Armed Peace Means Another War, Declares Smuts

Sheffield, Eng.—"The armed peace led to the world war. Would it have ended there. But it continues in an aggravated form and as long as it continues mankind seems to be marching to some horrible doom," declared General R. Hon. Jan C. Smuts, distinguished soldier and statesman, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, delivering the Basil Hicks memorial address at Sheffield University.

"Unless a real measure of disarmament puts an end to the armed peace," General Smuts said, "we are making for another cataclysm which will be infinitely worse than the horrors of the Great War. In the World War we saw only the beginning of the vast difference which science is making in human affairs. In the next great war, if that is ever allowed to occur, science will, like some outraged deity, go far to destroy mankind itself."

"The next war will be unlike anything which has been called war in the past," General Smuts warned. "The time-honoured name of war would not properly apply to armies and navies or to the other paraphernalia of war. It will go straight for the populations, and for the immense urban aggregations which will be its sure target. It will fight with new unheard of chemical and biological weapons. It will cover the fair land and the great cities with poison and disease germs. It will saturate vast areas with a deadly atmosphere."

British Parliament

Has Been Prorogued

King George Summarizes Government's Effort To Overcome Financial Trouble

London, Eng.—The British Parliament was prorogued October 7, with a speech from the throne while excitement prevailed over the coming general election.

The King, in his speech, briefly summarized the efforts of the government to pull the nation out of its financial and economic troubles.

Only about 100 members of the House of Commons were scattered about the benches, many already having departed for their constituencies. Jeers, jokes and outbursts of party feelings interrupted the proceedings.

The members shouted across the floor of the House from the various sections.

There will be no escape, not even for the statesmen and the war makers, and a pall of death will rest over all. Even now the laboratories of three continents are busy with their deadly researches. And in due course some lunatic or criminal will press the button and the flower of the human race will be trapped and destroyed. There is still a way of escape, but it lies along the arduous path of disarmament."

General Smuts did not argue that the nations of the world should immediately lay down their arms. That would be impossible and entirely illogical. But he did urge a gradual measure of disarmament which would be supported by the trend of the impendable forces of the world.

"It is arguable, but only arguable, that the measure of disarmament we should immediately aim at is that imposed on Germany and her allies at the Peace Conference. It may be said that that is our precedent and our standard, and that the undertakings referred to were given in view of and had reference to the complete disarmament imposed on Germany. I entirely reject the argument insofar as it applies to any immediate disarmament. Terms which could be and were imposed on a beaten Germany in a moment of defeat can be no standard for a free agreement among the nations many years after. The carrying out of such a scheme of disarmament would be a moral impossibility, and the mere attempt to do so at present would have disastrous consequences."

Nationalization Of Credits

U.F.A. Leader Says Money Should Be Provided At Cost, Rather Than For Profit

Lethbridge, Alberta.—The Canadian banking system is a debt-creating system, according to Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta group in the House of Commons and president of the organization. In an address here he declared the system should be replaced by a nationalization of currency and credits than for profit as at present.

He also suggested that possibly capitalism has reached its zenith and should be replaced by a new economic order. He modified this remark by declaring that if a system is needed to meet the demands of the age, all classes will have to work together to reach a solution. War and revolt with bloodshed will solve nothing, he maintained.

Canada Is In Good Position To Lean On Her Own Resources

Montreal, Que.—Canada is well able to lean on her own resources and is doing so. Her production of gold will amount to $50,000,000 this year, her banking system is sound and business is being done," declared Beaudry Leman, president of the Catholic Bankers' Association, addressing a meeting of the Catholic Women's league, city sub-division.

Mr. Leman was asked by Premier L. A. Taschereau to substitute for him as speaker.

Sympathy with those involved in recent occurrences in the stock exchange was expressed by Mr. Leman. He said that no uninformed criticism is directed against those who had sacrificed years of work and the results therefrom, as well as their own personal means, in order to protect their clients.

The causes which had produced at the moment such unfavourable results in the financial field were of real benefit to Canada in the economic field by stimulating production of Canadian goods and employment of Canadian labour, the banker said. The lowering of the value of the Canadian dollar, indirectly, an obstacle against imports of goods which made it easier for the Canadian producer to develop his own production and give more employment to Canadians, thereby creating a sounder economic situation as far as Canada was concerned, he went on.

Referring to the country's banks, Mr. Leman suggested to his hearers they read the annual statements of the various banks covering the years 1928 and 1929. "You will find that every single bank in this country advised people to be careful, that excess would inevitably bring their reaction, that dangers were ahead.

"Do you imagine that the banks that were giving out to others these warnings did not trim their own sails, seeing that they were in the same boat? I leave the answer to your own judgment. The bank situation in Canada is sound. We have every reason to be proud of the system established in this country, which has weathered many storms."

He mentioned the crises of 1895, 1907, 1914 and 1921.

"We have lived through these crises; they came, they passed and we are still alive!"

Canada is now the second largest gold producing country in the world, Mr. Leman said. The production would be used in two ways: "Firstly, it must be used to protect the internal situation in Canada, that is the financial situation, to keep it sane and sound, at the same time, Canada will keep in the position of shipping gold outside the country, as and when national conditions permit. Gold shipments have not stopped, are being made and will continue to be made," Mr. Leman said.

The banker blamed recent distress selling of stock issues on an attack of nerves. "We are cool and collected when an emergency arises, and do what should be done at the moment. But people have an attack of nerves after the accident is over. The danger is past but there is a psychological reaction at seeing just what has happened." The danger was in 1928 and 1929, when prices were high, not in 1931 when they are on the bottom, he said.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Production in all lines has increased, but the gold on which our money standards are based has not kept up in the procession. As money of all kinds was provided during the war by issuing paper notes guaranteed by the countries in which they were issued, many are asking why it cannot be done now and thereby place in circulation money to enable people to buy each other's goods with cash instead of taking in each other's washing to liquidate debts.

To answer that question you will have to ask the international bankers, who control world finance. Already the Labor party in England has advocated making the Bank of England a state institution, controlled by the government. Bankers tell people to spend wisely, yet refuse to lend money for business purposes, because they're afraid it will be a long time coming back, or maybe never!

They talk of frozen assets. Well might they! The hoards of gold now spoken of as frozen assets might as well be icebergs in the Arctic ocean, for they are as useless to those clamoring for work, which includes many small and large business houses, besides the vast army of the unemployed.

As some of the most learned economists of the world, (and Mr. Roger Babson) admit they cannot tell when the world will resume its regular diet of business and commerce, it is useless for the writer of this column to add to the worries of the day by trying to make foolish prophecies. Sufficient for the day is the evil thereof, and if we can get a job or two to keep the presses from getting rusty, we offer up a double prayer of thankfulness.

But because the bankers have lost confidence, while at the same time trying to run a bluff on the dear public, by telling them to "spend wisely," there is no reason why the rest of the people should adopt the same attitude. If we cannot use their gold to do business with, let's make every effort to figure out some other way of carrying on. Creatures with far less intelligence than human beings dig up a living without money or gold. Man with his superior intelligence should be able to overcome such a trifling necessity to daily living as a gold shortage.

Even if wheat is only 25c a bushel, the farmer who really knows how to farm is far better off than the artisan or professional man out of a job. He should at least be able to live, but the men employed in hives of industry and offices, being trained only for that particular line of work, and with no money saved from wages or salaries that possibly were just sufficient to live on, are thrown high and dry on the rocks of adversity when they lose their jobs. It is only by the most brainy men of the workers themselves formulating plans and securing sufficient political support to put them into action that the recurrence of such a period as the last two years has witnessed will be made improbable, if not impossible.

Read the following; then as you read, pause and think. You'll possibly imagine it is from a Communist paper. But read on:

"The capitalistic and industrial system has existed for little more than a century and a half, and no one believes in its stability. The argument that its difficulties arise from the attacks of Socialism, and, in this country, from severe and unfair taxation, will not, even if we accept the ordinary theories of the supporters of Big Business, entirely explain its troubles.

"Modern Capitalism started on unsound principles. Its aim was the obtaining of profits for profit's sake, and from the first it recklessly, if not altogether intentionally, exploited the masses of the population. It separated the mass of the workers from all share in the control of industry or from ownership of any form of property, and made their livelihoods miserably insecure. Such a system was bound, in the nature of things, to excite class hatreds, and carried from its birth the seeds of an early dissolution.

"In modern times, Capitalism has been forced to repudiate the principle of free competition on which it was founded, and is today struggling to fix prices, even by the destruction of foodstuffs, and to eliminate trade rivalries. Political thinkers, like the Marquis of Lothian, say plainly that Capitalism has a good deal to learn from Bolshevism.

"The danger which threatens the world is that in these desperate attempts to preserve its profits, Capitalism may perish in a universal cataclysm. The events of the past weeks are a warning. The Prime Minister has stated that, if immediate steps had not been taken to deal with the present crisis, a terrific chaos would have ensued. We may feel certain that, if our civilization goes down, it will not die a lingering death like that of the old classic and feudal civilizations. Its end will come suddenly and unexpectedly like the breaking of the mainspring of a watch, and if it so perishes, it will leave no principles behind it to guide the future. The Roman civilization bequeathed to the Middle Ages the law of Rome. Capitalism will leave nothing but class hatreds."

Now, having read it, it might be enlightening, maybe surprising to learn that this is from an editorial in The Church Times, which has the largest circulation of all Church of England newspapers.

Little Possibility That Gold Mining Will Suffer Through Nations Dropping Gold Standard

"The possibility that the gold mining industry will suffer by reason of the tumultuous changes that have taken place in the world's financial relationships, is extremely remote," declared Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, in a statement at Toronto.

"Instead of gold bullion becoming less valuable, it would appear to be more desirable than ever," the Minister's statement continued. "Great Britain and other countries which have taken action which is described as going off the gold standard, have actually taken steps to prevent further loss of the precious metal and are endeavouring to restore their former reserves. There seems little danger of United States, with five billion dollars' worth, or France, with another huge total, doing, or permitting anything which would lessen the worth of their enormous holdings, such as sanctioning any scheme of demonetization.

"Nor is it likely that the British Empire, which produces three-quarters of the world's gold, and possesses billions of dollars worth of ore, will propose anything which will diminish the value of these great resources.

"Both United States and Great Britain have been off the gold standard in previous times of stress, yet gold has never lost its desirability nor its usefulness. There is nothing in the situation which should discourage prospectors in their search for new discoveries, nor cause gold miners to restrict their activities.

"On the contrary, we will likely find that both activities will be accelerated. The exchange premium represents just so much extra profit for the gold mines and Ottawa authorities agree that the mines are entitled to any profit they could by selling their gold outside Canada, just as are the producers of paper, wheat, or any other exportable material."

Dark Skin Resists Sunlight

Does Not Let Beneficial Rays Through

The darker the colour of the skin the less it is affected by sunlight. Tests with half-breed and full-blooded Indians show convincingly that the greater the amount of black and red in untanned skin the less is the change in colour from exposure. Dr. R. Clements of the University of Oklahoma, reports in the Journal of Physical Anthropology. The heavier pigmentation, he holds, serves as a partial insulation from sun rays. This may explain, he holds, why negro and Indian children have been found more subject to rickets than those of lighter races even when the diet and environment are essentially the same. The pigment produced by exposure probably differs from that in unexposed skin and forms a storehouse for the anti-rachitic vitamin. Darker skin does not let the beneficial rays through. Dr. Clements found, however, that red skin changes less than black from exposure.

Silver Mining In Canada

Silver mining in Canada is not a distinct mining industry as silver generally occurs with other metals; with lead and zinc; with cobalt, nickel and arsenic; with lode and placer gold; in copper-gold ores and in nickel-copper ores. Silver in lead and zinc ores and in cobalt-nickel-arsenic ores is usually the predominating factor in determining the marketability of such ores.

As an expression of thanks of the British navy for the wonderful reception accorded British bluejackets at Kiel, Germany, a hundred Kiel school children were given a gala day on the cruiser "Norfolk."

Women Are Launching

New Business Ventures

Varied Occupations Featured At Annual Exposition In New York

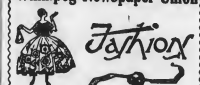

Everything from pie baking to international politics was featured at the tenth annual Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries, held in New York. Despite the depression, women are continuing to go into new fields and to launch new business ventures. Mrs. Oliver Harriman, chairman of the exposition, said:

Mrs. Frederick Fox, wife of a physician, adds to the lengthening list of vocations for women—that of milk raising. She started her milk farm last season at the country place in Westchester County, N.Y., to encourage milk raising among farm women desiring to add to their income.

Mrs. Francis D. Gilbert of Westfield, N.J., has a rabbit farm and is ready to do a large business raising these animals whose skins are so widely used for jacket trimming of women's apparel.

Sixty-five women inventors are showing models of their designs at a special exhibition of inventions patented but not yet marketed. Beauty culture for business women, music, foreign languages, city sanitation, birth control, disarmament, temperance, anti-prohibition and the homelier arts of housework and management and cookery were on the programme for discussions at the convention.

"Bacon" is a term that is open to several meanings. It is often used in a general way to describe practically all the cured products of a hog and that in the way in which it may be said to be used in the Canadian export trade of Wiltshire-cut sides. Then again the term "bacon" is very strictly limited, especially in the domestic trade of Canada and the United States, to that of the cured product which comes from the belly and occasionally the back of the carcass. There is frequently much confusion in the discussions of our Canadian trade owing to difference in the application of the word "bacon." The accompanying chart has been prepared to make clear the manner in which the terms are used in the respective cut, according as one is dealing with the export or the domestic section of the industry.

Finishing Hogs

Practice Of Selling Light Weight Unfinished Hogs Very Unprofitable

In a review of the hog market situation as it exists at the present time, A. A. MacMillan, Chief of the Sheep and Swine Division, Dominion Live Stock Branch, states that there is no justification for the practice which has been too general this season of trying to beat the market by selling off light-weight unfinished hogs to gain a few cents per pound at current prices. As he sees it, the principal effect of such practices has been to demoralize the market and force prices much below what they otherwise might be.

With Canadian hog prices drastically realigned both to suit domestic conditions and export market prices the common sense practice to use at the present time, according to Mr. MacMillan, is to finish hogs up to the proper market weight, around 200 pounds. This he believes is the one effective way in which to develop a "steady" hog market, to regularize marketings, and at the same time to improve quality.

Congratulations For Canadian Government

Message Received From Hon. J. H. Thomas On Arrival Of Grain Boat

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary of state for Dominion Affairs, sent the following cable to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett on the occasion of the arrival of the first steamer with grain from Churchill, Canada's latest seaport:

"On the occasion of the safe arrival in London of the 'Parnsworth,' bringing the first direct shipment from western Canada to this country by the Hudson Bay route, His Majesty's Government of the United Kingdom wish to convey to His Majesty's Government in Canada hearty congratulations on the successful inauguration of this great Canadian enterprise and express the hope that it may lead to increased trade and prosperity for all concerned."

Freight Rate Concessions And Other Forms Of Assistance In Connection With Feeder Cattle

Invaluable During Famine

Potatoes Cultivated By Missionaries Save Lives Of Millions Of Chinese

Twenty-five years ago a handful of potatoes was sent from the United States to China. The missionaries propagated them in their remote corner of China along the Tibet border and during the last three years of famine decimated of the original potatoes have saved the lives of more than a million Chinese.

When the first Americans and Europeans penetrated the Kansu Province and established mission stations at Taichow (Old City), some 40 years ago, they found a native Chinese potato which was small, poor, and had a very low food value. The natives of the district, with little regard for the future, had been in the habit each year of eating the best of the crop and saving the poorest potatoes for seed.

Four Early Rose potatoes were sent from Tennessee, and these were planted in 1897, two in Taichow, and two in Minchow. They grew very well and produced many tubers of fine quality in Chinese soil.

In a few years the new variety spread to several counties of the province, which had a total population of 10,000,000 people. But the Boxer Rebellion resulted in a recall of all the Christians from the district, and while they were away the Chinese fell back into their old habit of eating all the best, and also of allowing the new variety to become mixed with the older type of potato.

The potatoes had become so poor when missionaries were again allowed in the country that they had to re-introduce them. The variety chosen was the Green Mountain which was planted in 1903.

The experience of Chinese planters with the other variety helped to speed the distribution of the Green Mountain tubers, which quickly supplanted both the native and the Early Rose types.

In the three years' famine since 1928, one of the worst famines the world has ever known, almost half the population of Kansu, and also of the Province of Szechuan, to the east, have died. But where the Green Mountain potato was cultivated the larger part of the population has been able to subsist. It has been estimated that fully a million people have been living by eating these potatoes.

Old Harvest Ceremonies

Strange Practices In West Of England Half Century Ago

Many old customs connected with the gathering in of the harvest have been dead these fifty years and more. When the grain was ready for cutting in the olden days in the West of England, all kinds of strange practices were resorted to in order to scare the witches away, and a belief existed that the last wrap of corn in the harvest field was inhabited by the sacred horse. A horse representing the grain god would be eaten with special rites by the reapers at the harvest supper. There was also "crying the mare," the reapers tying together the tops of the last standing blades of corn in a field, "the mare," and making this a target for their sticks. The man who cut the mare down had the prize, and the "mare" would be sent in by a fleet-footed messenger to the next farmer who had not reaped his corn, emblem at once of a brag and a taunt.

Why Burn Straw Stacks

Straw Can Easily Be Converted Into A Valuable Fertilizer

When with the use of suitable chemicals they can be converted into manure the question "Why burn straw stacks?" is really pertinent. Straw is worth something more than as a bedding material, and not the least valuable is its use for the making of artificial manure. The use of 100 pounds of ammonium sulphate and 100 pounds of lime to each ton of straw and this thoroughly soaked with water produces a manure of distinct fertilizer value. From three to six months are required for the organic changes to become effective and the resultant substance has much of the appearance and practically the same value, as barnyard manure. Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Among the birds that are believed to live to see 100 years or more are the falcon, golden eagle, parrot, and raven.

Open flames will be employed in cooking on the new airship, "Akron."

In order to clear up any possible misunderstanding in relation to policies now in effect, Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, has authorized a statement with reference to freight-rate concessions or other forms of assistance to farmers in eastern and western Canada on purchases of feeder cattle.

Assistance to the movement of cattle between local points in western Canada is a 50 per cent. reduction in normal carload freight rates on feeder cattle. This reduction has been authorized by the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to facilitate the direct purchase of cattle as between producer and feeder for fattening and reshipment.

The rate decrease is not available on purchases from stock yards. When cattle shipped to the feeder are fattened and ready for reshipment, the normal freight rates will apply to all points of destination in Canada.

With respect to the movement of western cattle fed for export in eastern Canada, this policy allows a reduction of 50 per cent. in normal freight rates on cattle shipped from any point east of Fort William to the seaboard for export. Provided such cattle were purchased in western Canada after June 30, 1931. This policy is in operation until December 30, 1931.

Under the policy of assistance to Canadian cattle feeders in purchasing western cattle, the prospective purchaser in eastern Canada is entitled to one-way travelling expenses. This includes railway fare, berth and reasonable living allowance en route, to purchase carload shipments from western stock yards, western feeder shows, or in the case of purchases from ranches, to the stock yards nearest thereto.

The prospective feeder residing in western Canada is entitled to the foregoing privileges on carloads of feeder cattle purchased at his nearest stockyards, or at a feeder show in the western provinces.

The British Columbia feeder is required to make his purchases of cattle under this policy at western stockyards at which a feeder sale is being held, or direct from ranches in British Columbia.

In all cases, cattle purchased under this policy of assistance to Canadian cattle feeders in purchasing western cattle are subject to regular freight rates, and the policy is in effect for five months commencing August, 1931.

All the policies mentioned relate specifically to the purchase of feeder stock. In addition to these, there are a number of policies relating to the movement of females for breeding purposes.

A freight policy is in effect on approved heifers. Purchasers of heifers for breeding purposes may be made in any central stockyards in western Canada for shipment to any country point west of Fort William. Twenty-five per cent. of the rate is rebateable by the railway company, and the other 75 per cent. is rebateable by the Dominion Livestock Branch.

A transportation policy on approved purebred females of beef or dairy breeds is in operation. This policy allows for free freight on carloads of approved purebred females from any railway point of loading in Canada, including points in the prairie provinces, to any other railway point in the prairie provinces, after having passed tuberculin and blood tests.

AS SLIM AS AT 20

Still Fit and Active at 55

"I have been taking the small dose of Kruschen Salts every morning for the last three years. I wouldn't be without them in the house. I used to suffer with constipation and piles, but an ever trouble in that way now. I am 55 years, and as slim as when I was 20. I have to work very hard, as I have my family and an invalid father to attend to, and I always say it's the Kruschen that keeps me fit."—M. S.

There's nothing like hard work and activity for keeping superfluous fat away. The trouble with most folks is finding the necessary energy. That is where Kruschen comes in.

After you have had your daily supply of Kruschen every morning for a couple of weeks you'll get what is known the world over as "that Kruschen feeling."

The urge for activity will fill your entire being—you'll not be content to sit in the old arm chair after your day's work is done.

You'll feel the spirit of youth within you—what a joyous feeling—your want to take long walks, play games and your work will cease to be a hardship—it will become a pleasure.

Pensioners Lose Out

Drop in British Pensions Sterling Works

Hardship On Imperial Pensioners

The Dominion headquarters of the Canadian Legion has made a strong protest to the British Ministry of Pensions regarding the loss being sustained as a result of the drop in value of the pound sterling.

The British ministry representative at Ottawa has been instructed by the home government, the Legion, has been informed, to continue to pay pensions in sterling, which means that the pensioner has to bear the loss in exchange.

Major J. R. Bowler, Dominion general secretary of Legion, sent the following telegram to British Empire Service League, headquarters in London, England:

"Drop in exchange causing grave additional hardship to thousands of Imperial pensioners in Canada."

"Will the B.E.S.L. after conferring with other member organizations, make representations to have pension payments stabilized at the equivalent of par, $4.80?"

A similar communication has also been sent by Major Bowler to the British ministry representative at Ottawa.

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

—BY—
MARGARET FIEDLER
Author of
"The Splendid Fairy," "The Hermit of Par End," Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

"I fear I seem intrusive. But I am so interested in your future—I have taken a great fancy to you, mademoiselle. That must be my excuse." She rose from the table, adding smilingly: "At least you will not find it dull, since Lady Anne has two sons. They will be companions for you."

Jean rose, too, and together they passed out of the hall a mangle.

"And what do you propose to do with yourself today?" asked the Countess, passing in the hall. "My husband and I are going for a sleigh drive. Would you care to come with us? We should be delighted."

Jean shook her head.

"It's very kind of you. But I should really like to try my luck on the ice. I haven't skated for some years, and as I feel a trifle shaky about beginning again, Monsieur Griolet, who directs the sports, has promised to coach me up a bit some time this morning."

"Bon!" Madame de Varigny nodded pleasantly. "You will be well occupied while we are away. At revolve, then, till our return. Perhaps we shall walk down to the rink later to witness your progress under Monsieur Griolet's instruction."

She smiled mischievously, the smile irradiating her face with a sudden charm. Jean felt as though, for a moment, she had glimpsed the woman the Countess might have been but for some happening in her life which had soured and embittered it, setting that strange implacability within the liquid depths of her soft, southern eyes.

She was, still speculating on Madame de Varigny's curious personality as she made her way along the beaten track that led towards the rink, and then, as a sudden turn of the way brought the sheet of ice suddenly into full view, all thoughts concerning the bunch of contradictions that goes to make up individual character were swept out of her mind.

In the glory of the morning sunlight the stretch of frozen water gleamed like a shield of burnished silver, whilst on its further side rose great pine-trees, mysteriously dark and silent, climbing the steeply rising ground towards the mountains.

"There were a number of people skating, and Jean discovered Monsieur Griolet in the distance, supervising the practice of a pretty American girl who was cutting figure with an ease and exquisite balance of lithic body that hardly seemed to stand in need of the instructions he poured forth so volubly. Probably, Jean decided, the American had entered for some match and was being coached up to concert her skill accordingly.

She stood for a little time watching with interest the varied performance of the skaters. Bands of light-hearted folk, indulging in the sport just for the sheer enjoyment of it, sped gaily by, broken matches of their talk and laughter drifting back to her as she passed, whilst groups of more accomplished skaters performed intricate evolutions with an earnestness and intensity of purpose almost worthy of a better cause.

Jean felt a little stranded and forlorn. She would have liked someone to share her enthusiasm for the marvels achieved by the figures skaters and to laugh with her a little at their deadly seriousness and at the scraps of heated argument ancient the various schools of technique which came to her, borne on the still, clear air.

Presently her attention was attracted by the solitary figure of a man who swept past her in the course of making a complete circle of the rink. He skimmed the ice with the free assurance of an expert, and as he passed, a supple, sinuous figure, and of a lean, dark face, down-bent, with a cap crammed low on to the somewhat scowling brows.

There was something curiously distinctive about the man. Brief as was her vision of him, it possessed an odd definiteness—a vividness of impression that was rather startling.

He flashed by, his arms folded across his chest, moving with long, rhythmic strokes which soon carried him to the further side of the rink. Jean's eyes followed him curiously. He was unmistakably an Englishman, and he seemed to be as solitary as herself, but, unlike her, he appeared indifferent to the fact, absorbed in his own thoughts which, to judge by his sullen, brooding expression of his face, were not particularly pleasant ones.

Soon she lost sight of him amid the scattered groups of smoothly gliding figures. The scene reminded her of a cinema show. People darted suddenly into the picture, materializing in full detail in the space of a moment, then rushed out of it again, dividing into insignificant black dots which merged themselves into the continuously shifting ground beyond.

At last she bent her steps towards the lower end of the rink, by common consent reserved for beginners in the art of skating. She had not skated for several years, owing to a severe strain which had left her with a weak ankle, and she felt somewhat nervous about skating again.

Rather slowly she fastened on to skates and ventured tentatively on to the ice. For a few minutes she suffered from a devastating feeling that her legs didn't belong to her, and wished heartily that she had never quitted the safe security of the bank, but before long her confidence returned, and with it that flexible ease of balance which, once acquired, is never really lost.

In a short time she was thoroughly enjoying the rapid, effortless motion, and felt herself equal to entering a safe course beyond the narrow limits of the "Mugs Corner"—as that portion of the ice allotted to novices was unkindly dubbed.

She struck out for the middle of the rink, gradually increasing her speed and revelling in the sting of the keen, cold air against her face. Then, all at once, it seemed as though the solid surface gave way beneath her foot. She lurched forward, flung violently off her balance, and in the same moment the sharp click of the blades on the ice betrayed the cause. One of her skates insecurely fastened, had come off.

She staggered wildly, and in another instant would have fallen had not something, as a shadow, glided suddenly abreast of her and, slipping a supporting arm round her waist, eked smoothly beside her, little by little slackening their mutual pace until Jean, on one blade all this time, could stop without danger of falling.

As they glided to a standstill, she turned to offer her thanks and found herself looking straight into the lean, dark face of the Englishman who had passed her when she had been watching the skaters.

He lifted his cap, and as he stood for a moment bareheaded beside her, she noticed with a curious little shock—half surprised, half appreciative—that on the left temple his dark brown hair was streaked with a single pure white lock, as though a finger had been laid upon the hair and bleached it where it lay. It conferred a certain air of distinction—an added value of contrast—just as the sharp black shadow in a neutral-tinted picture gives sudden significance to the whole conception.

The stranger was regarding Jean with a flicker of amusement in his grey eyes.

The stranger was regarding Jean with a flicker of amusement in his grey eyes.

"That was a near thing," he observed.

Evidently he judged her to be a Frenchwoman, for he spoke in French—very fluently, but with an unmistakably English accent. Instinctively Jean, who all her life had been as frequently called upon to converse in French as English, responded in the same language.

She was breathing rather quickly, a little shaken by the suddenness of the incident, and his face took on a shade of concern.

"You're not hurt, I hope? Did you twist your ankle?"

"No, oh, no," she smiled up at him. "I can't have twisted my ankle properly, and when it shot off like that I'm afraid I rather lost my head. You see," she added explanatorily, "I haven't skated for some years. And I was never very proficient."

"I see," he said gravely. "It was a little rash of you to start again quite alone, wasn't it?"

"I suppose it was. However, as you luckily happened to be there to save me from the consequences, no harm is done. Thank you so much."

There was a note of dismissal in her voice, but apparently he failed to notice it, for he held out his hands to her, crosswise, saying:

"Let me help you to the bank, and then I'll retrieve your errant skate for you."

He so evidently expected her to comply with his suggestion that, almost without her own volition, she found herself moving with him towards the edge of the rink, her hands grasped in a close, steady clasp, and a moment later she was scrambling up the bank. Once more on level ground, she made a movement to withdraw her hands.

"I can manage quite well now," she said rather nervously. There was

Bedouin Given Credit Of Inventing Alphabet

Chicago Professor's Idea Upsets Theory Of Many Scholars

Some unknown Bedouin mine foreman, working for the ancient Egyptians, about 1,800 years before Christ, is credited by Prof. Martin Sprengling, of the University of Chicago, with inventing the A. B. C. The mine foreman, puzzled by the complex hieroglyphics of his masters, sought a shorter way to keep his records, and simplified his work by developing a rudimentary alphabet, in the opinion of Prof. Sprengling. He based his theory on his translation of the Sinal inscriptions, found in 1904 by Sir Flinders Petrie, in Sinal, which lies between Egypt and the northern part of Arabia. His theory would upset that of many scholars who have attributed the development of the alphabet to the Phoenicians.

French Scientist Wants To Raise Speed Of Super-Cats

The production of cats of "super-cats" capable of driving all mice and rats from any city in France was forecast by Dr. Jean Loir, distinguished scientist and nephew of the famous Pasteur.

Dr. Loir said he was developing the cats at Havre where secret tests have made devastating inroads on rodents, some as large as small dogs, along the wharves.

Dr. Loir is seeking cats with a highly developed sense of smell and with sharp agility. Most of the animals with which he has experimented so far have been remarkable for the length of their whiskers.

Edouard Herriot, mayor of Lyons, has invited Dr. Loir to go to that city where special facilities would be accorded him for further experiments.

Famous Wills Kept In Somerset House

Can Be Inspected On Payment Of Small Fee

Storage accommodation at Somerset House, London, England, where wills, birth, death, marriage certificates, and divorce documents are filed, has for many years been severely taxed. The position has now been relieved by the preparation of a new building-room below the level of the Embankment, capable of holding ten million additional papers. Some of the wills date back to 1382. Among the collection are those of Shakespeare, Milton, Nelson, Wellington, Pitt, Burke, and Dr. Johnson. All these can be seen for a fee of 1s., except that of Shakespeare, for an inspection of which 2s. is charged. Altogether it is estimated that Somerset House contains fifty million documents.

French Laboratory Making Experiment

Trying To Acclimatize Trees Which Produce Fluid Like Milk

An experiment with trees that produce milk and cream is being conducted by an important French laboratory.

Several living trees of the family "Prosimium Galactodendron" were brought to France from South America, and work has been started to acclimatize them to northern European conditions. The trees, when punctured, will provide a sweet fluid like milk. It does not turn sour and laboratory tests show that it is richer than cow's milk in phosphates and sugar. It looks and tastes much like the real product and is produced at 65 per cent. of the cost of ordinary cream.

Cheese Curdling During Fall Months

Dr. J. A. Ruddle, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, calls attention to the importance of maintaining adequate temperatures for the curdling of cheese made during the fall months, particularly October and November. The temperature of the curdling rooms should never be allowed to go below 60 degrees Fahrenheit, and the cheese should be turned every day. As in the curdling room keeps the air drier and gives the cheese better binds while maintaining adequate temperatures.

A Cherished Record

Mother Keeps Safely Only Link With Dead Son

With millions of dollars stored away in the vaults of one of Washington's largest financial institutions, it will naturally surprise one to learn that a cracked photograph held for safe keeping there, is "the most precious thing" under lock and key. And why shouldn't it be? Listen what the head of the bank related interestingly the other day, after he looked up from his desk only to see standing before him a little old woman, dressed in black. Placing a hand on the desk he said she told him: "Please, I want this put away where it will be safe. It is very precious to me." Further inquiry revealed, the banker said: "In 1917 her son, a singer in a local cabaret, marched away to war and stayed in Flanders Field. One of the things she had to remember him by was a photograph record which he had made before he left. It was old and scarred now, and had a crack in it, but his voice, singing one of the numbers he had sung at the cabaret, was still recognizable. It was the record she wanted to preserve. And now, once a year, on her son's birthday, the banker said, the little old woman comes to the bank and takes home the record."

Always a blessing by naught else conferred;
It is the sweetness lingering after song,
The hidden meaning of the spoken word.

No part in it have years, for it may be
The treasure of the heart from youth to age,
Or but an hour's sudden ecstasy.
Obliterated by life's turning page,
The fair ideal, desired and unattained,
This is the only love by time unstained.

As a vermifuge an effective preparation is Mother Graves' Worm Expeller, and it can be given to the most delicate child without fear of injury to the constitution.

Hydro Development

Total water-power installations in Canada have grown from 71,515 horse-power in 1890 to 6,125,012 horse-power at the beginning of 1931. Over 85 per cent. of the present installation is installed for general distribution by central electric station organizations.

Suffered Severe, Painful Cramps In Her Stomach

Those terrible cramps in the stomach that double you up in pain and make you bristly out in a cold perspiration, may be stopped by a few doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. Lloyd Jones, 204 Argyle St., Halifax, N.S., writes:—I have suffered greatly from severe and painful cramps in my stomach. I tried several remedies without result. One day a friend advised me to take Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, so I bought a bottle and got instant relief."

Little Helps For This Week

"Trust in Him at all times."—Psalm lxxi, 8.

I know not what my life shall hold
Of love or light,
Only that safe within the fold
It shall be right;
I only seek to find the way
His feet have pressed;
And feel through fair or darker days
He knoweth best.

—M.M.B.
Whatever our needs, He can supply them. He is God. He will supply them, for He is love. Only let us believe, and our joy and blessedness shall be full. Let us honour God by trusting Him entirely. Let us be as willing to receive as He is to bestow. —Thorold.

Patient Was Hypnotized

Introducing New Method Of Painless Dental Operation

The Brooklyn Eagle has reported a bloodless and painless dental operation with hypnotism replacing an anesthetic. The paper said the experiment was witnessed by its own science editor in the office of Dr. A. J. Bruchlacher, Brooklyn dentist.

Walter L. Orton, mechanical engineer and vice-president of the Brooklyn Psychic Research society, kept a woman whose name was given only as "Miss M. C." under hypnotic influence for 15 minutes, the paper said, while Dr. Bruchlacher extracted a tooth, made an incision in a gum and cut away a growth of bone.

Idea Claimed For Chinese

Antiquarians Say They Were Inventors Of Ink and Fountain Pens

The idea of a fountain pen goes a very long way back, and no one man can be considered its inventor. Certainly a crude fountain pen was in use in England in the seventeenth century, but antiquarians go back a good deal further than that in their history. It is claimed that the idea was Chinese—they were the inventors of ink—and fountain pens were in use in China hundreds of years before the Christian era began.

The Oil Of Power.—It is not claimed for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil that it will remedy every ill, but its uses are so various that it may be looked upon as a general pain killer. It has achieved that greatness for itself and its excellence is known to all who have tested its virtues and learned by experience.

Moon Erratic In Its Course

The moon is so erratic, scientists say, that its position cannot be determined as exactly as that of stars. That is, it is never where it should be in its theoretical orbit, and what is so strange, it is the only body known to disobey such laws. In an effort to solve the mystery, computers of the naval almanac office are making a two-year check on the occultations of stars by the moon.

Good has but one enemy, the evil, but the evil has two enemies, the good and itself.

A man's good judgment usually shows up the day after.

Local News

Chas Chardon, Coleman Service Garage, has an announcement of particular interest to car owners, in the advertising columns.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Short, accompanied by their children, spent Thanksgiving in Lethbridge, the guests of Mrs Short's parents, Mr. and Mrs J. W. Boulton.

One of the Estevan strike leaders, named Forkin, whose arrest is sought by the police, addressed a letter to a Winnipeg daily, stating the strike was still on, and giving some of the causes leading up to the riot. His whereabouts was not disclosed.

Mr. A. L. Barrett, of Newfoundland, who paid us a visit, boasts of being father of fifteen children, and, incidentally remarks: "My wife looks so young and sweet, I'm almost tempted to marry her again."—Blairmore Enterprise.

St Alban's vestry met on Wed Wednesday evening at J. Rush-ton's home for the regular monthly meeting. Present were Rev. A. S. Partington, Col. R. F. Barnes, F. H. Graham, A. L. Watkins, F. G. Creeggan, H. T. Halliwell and John M. Rushton.

The telephone construction crew on the Trans Canada line, which have been working from a camp in the park here, broke camp this morning, as they are working further west towards Cranbrook completing the 200 mile contract which they have been working on during the summer.

A troop of Girl Guides was organized in St. Alban's parish hall on Saturday. Mrs Borden was appointed leader; Mrs. Partington, president; Mrs. Hoyle, secretary treasurer; Mrs. Halliwell, Mrs. J. A. McLeod, Mrs. Hancock, committee. Arrangements will be made to purchase the necessary equipment.

Fire drill held at Central school showed a record of the school being vacated by all pupils and staff in 50 seconds, and Cameron school, West Coleman in 40 seconds. Central has about 460 and Cameron 140 pupils. This shows remarkable efficiency in making an emergency exit. Representatives of the board were on hand, also the fire chief.

A district meeting of members of Rebekah lodges from Lethbridge, Pincher Creek, Macleod, Blairmore, Coleman, Michel and Natal was held at Bellevue on Wednesday evening. Michel members put on a "seven sisters" degree, and approximately 100 were present. A fine banquet was served to celebrate the anniversary of Bellevue lodge.

Thanksgiving services at St. Paul's church on Sunday were attended by a large number of people, splendid addresses appropriate to the day being given by the Rev. A. E. Larke. The musical portion of the services by an augmented choir, was highly appreciated, the anthems being particularly pleasing. W. G. Harris played the violin obligato for the anthems and solos.

Making Money in Retailing

In this town are many retailers who could and should have larger businesses.

The right way to get on in business is to set sales mark for the year—$5,000, $10,000, $20,000, $50,000—whatever is reasonable and within one's financial ability.

Then the year's objective should be reduced to weekly and monthly amounts, in accordance with the seasonal character of one's business. Then the next thing to do is to calculate the number of sales transactions needed each week to produce the weekly sales objective. Thus, if one's average sales transaction is 50 cents, and if one's weekly sales objective is $100; then clearly, the retailer must have 200 sales transactions every week. This may mean 200 customers.

So the retailer's job is to get in to his store 200 customers each week—an average of 34 a day.

These customers to be secured at the rate of 200 a week require to be (1) invited, publicly and regularly, by advertisements in this newspaper; (2) informed about the seller's merchandise, prices and service—again by advertisements in this newspaper, and (3) so well served by the retailer that they will be come "repeaters."

The main thing is customer attraction in required and pre-determined numbers, and this is achieved by interesting and warm blooded advertisements in this newspaper.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Miss Madeleine Chardon announces that her classes in piano-forte have been resumed at St. Alban's parish hall every Friday afternoon at 2 45. Intending pupils may arrange hours.
